The Manager Store. Half-Told Tales

INKNOWN friends write us daily about our advertising. Their suggestions are not only welcome,-they are prized. We regret the frequent pseudonym that stands between our correspondent and our thanks. An Anonyma of last week protests against our devoting Saturday to men's bargains. A hint for which much thanks, and a text on which this lesson:-

Do not confuse the day's story with the day's offers. Our news does not tell one-half (and with every day tells less and less) of what is going on. The day's story may be devoted largely to men's goods, but not by any means the day's economies.

The scope and "grip" of the store are extending and strengthening so fast, through your multiplying and extending favor, that the mercantile results have long since passed beyond the daily limits of newspaper space. We must frequently discriminate in our advertising, but in our merchandising, never.

The news to-day is largely for men, but there are bargains for everybody; -come and find.
